

STERILE PROCESSING TECHNICIAN

Durham Regional Hospital, a member of the Duke University Health System, is seeking a Sterile Processing Technician for our Central Sterile Reprocessing Department.

This full-time position is responsible for the decontamination of surgical instruments and the operation of steam, EtO and other forms of sterilization. Other responsibilities include: maintaining inventory for the assembly and preparation of surgical instruments and equipment; assembling/disassembling, cleaning and testing equipment; performing maintenance on equipment; and performing other tasks that assist in the daily operation of the unit. We have 2nd and 3rd shift positions available.

Ideal candidates will have a high school diploma or equivalent and experience in Central Sterile Reprocessing and/or training in Surgical Technology.

To apply, please email resume and cover letter to mandy.price@duke.edu.